

Previous Raymond Williams Lectures in Wales

- 1989 Professor Dai Smith (then Professor at the University of Wales, College of Cardiff) - "Raymond Williams and His Country", organised by NIACE Cymru (National Institute for Adult Continuing Education Wales) and the Workers Educational Association South Wales in Pandy
- 1990 Stephen Yeo, Principal, Ruskin College, Oxford - "Williams the Uncomfortable", organised by Coleg Harlech, North Wales
- 1991 Bea Campbell, Author and Journalist - "Women Towards 2000", organised by University of Wales, Swansea
- 1992 Professor Stuart Hall, Professor of Sociology, The Open University - "Culture, Community, Nation", organised by the Open University in Cardiff
- 1993 Professor Graham Martin, Open University - "The Novels of Raymond Williams", organised by the Workers Educational Association South Wales in Abergavenny
- 1994 Professor Patrick Parrinder, Department of English, University of Reading - "Politics, Leaders and the National Curriculum", organised by the University of Wales, Aberystwyth
- 1995 Professor Terry Eagleton, Wharton Professor of English Literature, St. Catherine's College, Oxford - "Communities, Universities and Raymond Williams" organised by UACE(Universities Assoc for Continuing Education) in Swansea
- 1996 Michael D Higgins, Minister for Arts, Culture & the Gaeltacht, Ireland - "The Migrants Return - A Personal Reflection on the Importance of Raymond Williams", organised by BBC Wales in Cardiff
- 1997 Lady Angelsey, Lady Brunner, Rhiannon Bevan -"Women's Institutes and Lifelong Learning", organised by the National Federation of Women's Institutes in Anglesey
- 1998 Professor Bob Fryer, Principal of Northern College and chair of the Government's National Advisory Group for Continuing Education and Lifelong Learning - "The Legacy of Raymond Williams to Adult Education", organised by Department for Continuing Education and Professional Development, Cardiff University
- 1999 Cynog Dafis, Welsh Assembly Minister and Member of Parliament UK Govt. - "Community of Languages", organised by NIACE Dysgu Cymru and the Welsh Language Board in association with the Workers Educational Association South Wales in Powys

- 2000 Edwina Hart, Assembly Minister, The National Assembly of Wales - "Equality, Social Justice and the Learning Agenda", at Cardiff University
- 2001 No Lecture
- 2002 Sheila Drury, ELWa (Education & Learning Wales), at Aberystwyth University
- 2003 Professor Bob Fryer, NHSU, "Learning Risk and Social Change", at Bangor University
- 2004 Jane Davidson, Minister for Lifelong Learning, The National Assembly for Wales "The Challenges of Lifelong Learning", at Trinity College, Carmarthen
- 2005 Alan Tuckett, Director, National Institute of Adult Continuing Education
"The Common Good: Raymond Williams, Adult Education and Social Change"
11th April 2005 at the Taliesin Theatre, University of Wales Swansea.