‘Resources for a Journey of Hope...’

Your legacy can help build a better future

.....

Legacies are one way of expressing generosity at a level that may not have been possible during your lifetime.

As well as leaving your money to family, you may want also to benefit those ideals and organisations which are important to you .

The RWF leaflet (enclosed) and web-site www.raymondwilliamsfoundation.org.uk give information on the broad long-term values which the Foundation supports. A substantial legacy from Dudley Pretty enabled considerable development of projects which demonstrate that the Raymond Williams Foundation can help keep alive and consolidate ‘the long revolution’, towards the democratic transformation of society in order that inequality and oppression cease to exist.

The RWF’s aims and objectives, therefore, cover a wide range of adult education activities. RWF Trustees are responsible for determining the direction of funds but every effort will be made to respect your wishes should you prefer to suggest guidelines on themes and projects within RWF’s remit.

Enclosed is a legacy form. We recommend that this be completed in consultation with your solicitor. The legacy may, of course, be changed or cancelled by you at any time.

If you wish to inform RWF of your intentions then that will help us and we will respect complete confidentiality at every stage, following your wishes on this. If you prefer, your legacy will be acknowledged in appropriate RWF reports.
